Highland's physical plant continues to expand to meet the needs of the student body. A new Music Building and a new Art Building were added and occupied about Mid-Year. The Music building provided sound proof-practice rooms, offices and equipment storage facilities for both instrumental and choral music. The art classes are now housed in large, well lighted rooms adjacent to large storage facilities.

These People Have Served HHS Well

HIGHLANDER '67 is dedicated to the ten teachers and one secretary on the present staff who were at Highland High School when it opened its doors in September, 1949. The pictures on this page were taken from the first issue of the HIGHLANDER, published in May, 1950.

Much of the credit for the excellence of Highland High School must go to these people who have devoted so much time and energy to its causes.

In an endeavor to provide for the maximum progress of its student body, Highland High School provides a wide range of activities outside the classroom.

Homecoming activities, intramurals, dances, school spirit activities, and the related events pictured in this section make a significant contribution to the excellence of Highland High School and its students.

Homecoming Door Decorated for Hornet Day

Barbara Houk, escorted by Doug McCurdy, receives the traditional rose from Court member Gail Bandoni.

Highland High School students voted Friday, September 23 to choose the members of the Homecoming Court from the thirty-five senior candidates. The candidates were required to have at least a "C" average and to have participated in two activities. They were permitted to put up one poster, with or without picture, in the halls and one banner in the gym.

At a second assembly, Friday, September 30, the fifteen candidates elected to the court were again presented and students were asked to vote for three girls. In past years, before Highland obtained voting machines, students voted for only one girl.

Seniors, headed by Phyllis Myers, were in charge of the decorations for the gymnasium for the Coronation Assembly.

Doug McCurdy escorted Barbara Houk, Fred Nassif accompanied Jennifer McDonalell and Dean Stone escorted Debbie Winkler up the "Yellow Brick Road" to their thrones. Along the road were the 12 members of the Court who sat in an enchanted poppy field.

The mixed ensemble, directed by Mr. Arthur Loy, performed for the Queen and her attendants. Phyllis Myers and Bruce Pasternak were the Masters of Ceremony.

During the Coronation Assembly gifts from each of Highland's classes and the Student Council were presented to the Queen and Princesses. She was also honored by other Albuquerque High Schools with traditional gifts.

In the library, following the assembly, a reception was held by the Student Council for the Queen and her court and their parents and guests.

Emerald City was the setting for the Hornet Day Dance presented by the Junior Class in the school cafeteria. A path to Queen Barbara's throne, a gondola underneath a huge balloon, was clearly marked by the "Yellow Brick Road". Munchkins, little figures from the land of Oz, lined the walls with fields of poppies. Live munchkins, the Highland Students, danced to the music of Lindy and the La'Velles.

The "In"

Students at Highland reflect the atmosphere of today's youth. Drastic changes in dress, accessories, and hair styles keep "tongue-clucking" an active pastime of adults. On these pages, you will see HHS students with many popular fads and fashions.

Terry Corbin likes the long dangling earrings, as many girls did.

Peggy Ratcliff wears her knit poor-boy dress with crocheted stockings to match.

Kay Kelley sports her new and popular Chevrolet Camaro.

Generation Sets the Pace

Brother and sister James and Linda Volz both like long styles so "IN" with HHS students this year.

A favorite with the boys, as with Richard Blansett, was the army jacket.

Lynn Tettersington, wearing the pants suit, uses the telephone.

Carnaby or Mod for the Guys

Fred Warner and Bill McKinney wear the "mod" and "carnaby" look to school.

This is the "IN" generation; the generation that has set its own standard in the world of fashion, communication, and entertainment. Most things are geared to the group.

TV shows such as Star Trek, the Avengers, and the Monkees have made it big this year with the teens. Locally, a fast-growing business is the teen night club. Carnaby 66 and the Cage were patronized by Albuquerque's "IN" set. Its communication is its own. Terms such as grossed out, psyched out, totaled, super, blow my mind, blew your cool, would you believe?, sorry 'bout that, bear of a test, burned and blazed, razzed, shut down, and get on the stick were common to HHS students this year.

This year pierced ears became one of the "IN" fads. Charlotte Hannett wears the popular small pearl "post."

Myna Schiess expresses freedom in her fashionable free flowing tent dress.

Bright-colored paper mache jewelry was well liked by girls like Karen Beckwith.

A fashion which applied to both boys and girls were the cowhide Apache boots. Becky Warder wears hers to school.

For short-haired girls, like Louanne Abrums, the "fall" gave variation to their hair style.

"Duck Drag"--New at HHS

Ken Otteni, Joe Morris, and Arthur Hayman lead in a cheer for the senior's duck.

Highland's senior class sponsored the unique "Duck Drag" and challenged the underclasses to a race. Each duck was trained to come to some sort of a call. Chuck Duck, the senior's duck, won the drag and received a trophy. After the "Duck Drag" everyone went to the "Duck Dance."

Bruce Merrill, Joe Morris and Harriet U'Ren give Chuck Duck a victory ride.

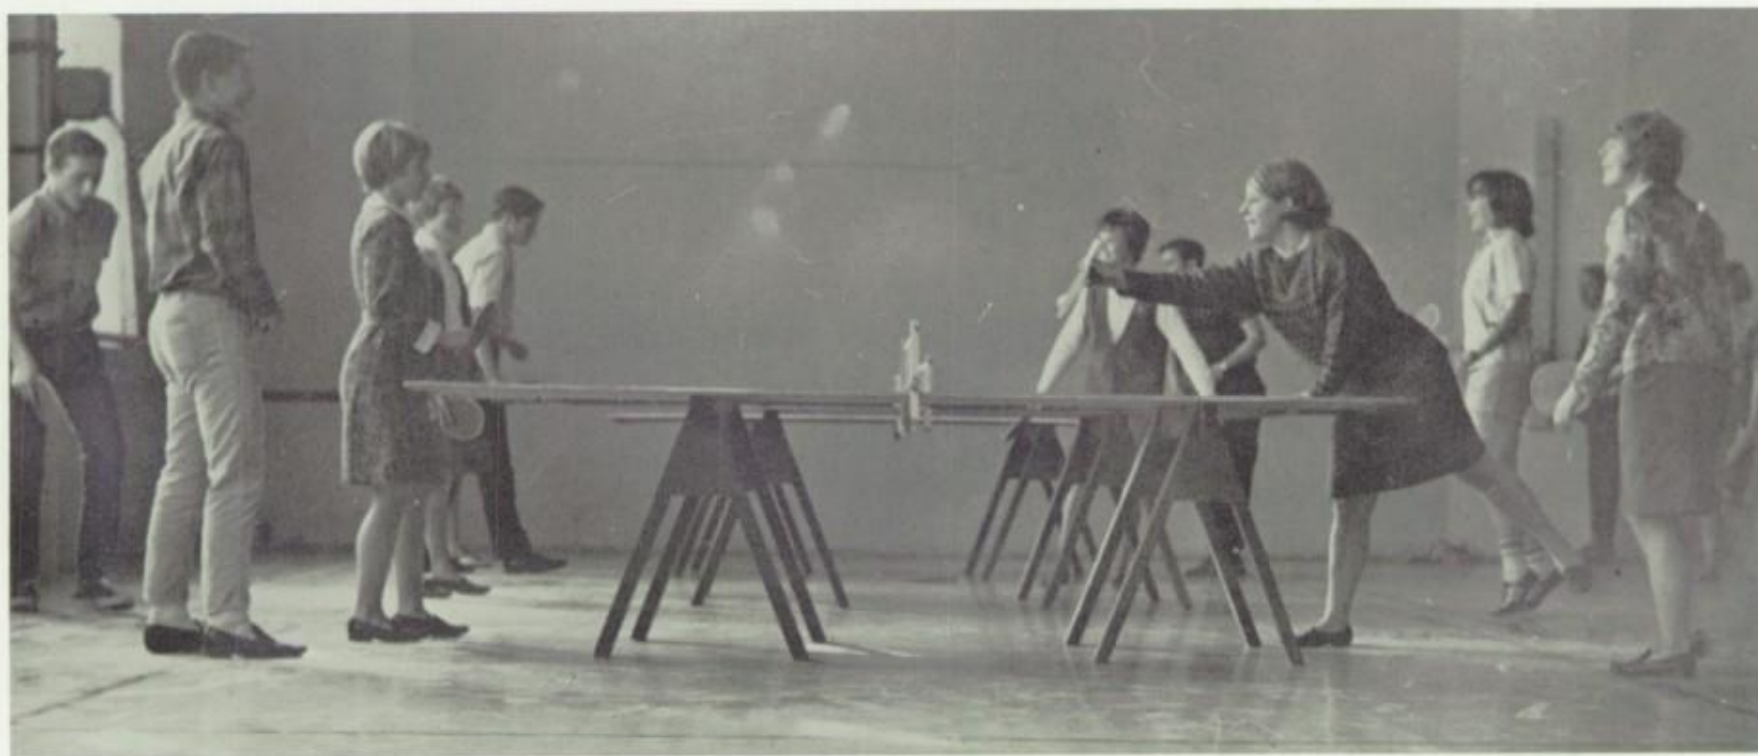

Faculty Joins Intramurals

Mr. Robert Figge uses his ballet skill to gracefully spike a volley ball.

Each year the Girls' Athletic Association sponsors several intramurals which attract many students as well as faculty members. This year's intramurals included volleyball, table tennis, badminton, speed-a-way, field hockey, and basketball. The games were held after school and were open to the entire student body and faculty.

Mrs. Roland and her partner demonstrate their skill in table tennis.

Students take an active part in table tennis intramurals.

Seniors presented "Death Takes A Holiday," in the school's theater under the direction of Miss Shannon. Leading roles were played by Ken Shears as Death, Alice Nation as Grazia and Don Kramer as the Duke Lambert.

Other roles were played by Diane Murphy as Alda, Barbara Houk as Cora, John Hanlin as Fedele, Peggy Gernert as Stephanie, Mary Dornacker as the princess, Fred Warner as the Baron, Sharon Glinski as Rhoda, Mark Naylor as Eric, Bill Potenziani as Corrado, and David Hanna as the Mayor.

Death, played by Ken Shears, tries explaining to Alice Nation why he cannot take her back to where he came from.

"DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY"...

Sharon Glinski, Peggy Gernert, Diane Murphy and Mark Naylor react with mixed expressions to Death's motives.

Mary Dornacker pleads with Alice Nation while Diane Murphy and Mark Naylor look on.

Peggy Gernert, Bill Potenziani, Mark Naylor, and David Hanna listen intently to Don Kramer's explanation of Death's presence in their home.

Thespians Present...

"OUR MISS BROOKS"

A Dance With Our Miss Brooks, directed by Miss Ann Shannon, HHS drama and English teacher, was presented February 9-11 in the Highland theater. The play was a comedy in three acts by Anne Coulter Martens. It was based on material from the television and radio shows, Our Miss Brook. Miss Brooks was a high school English teacher who tried to put on a school dance while being opposed by the Taxpayer Association. She was also interested in catching Coach Longacre.

Crew heads for the Thespian Play were: Ralph Wenzelburger, Leland Taylor, Mark Naylor, Sherrie Slade, Sharon Glinski, Carolyn Babb, Brenda Holiday, Annette McKown, and Pam Katz.

Kirkpatrick, Hanlin Take Leads

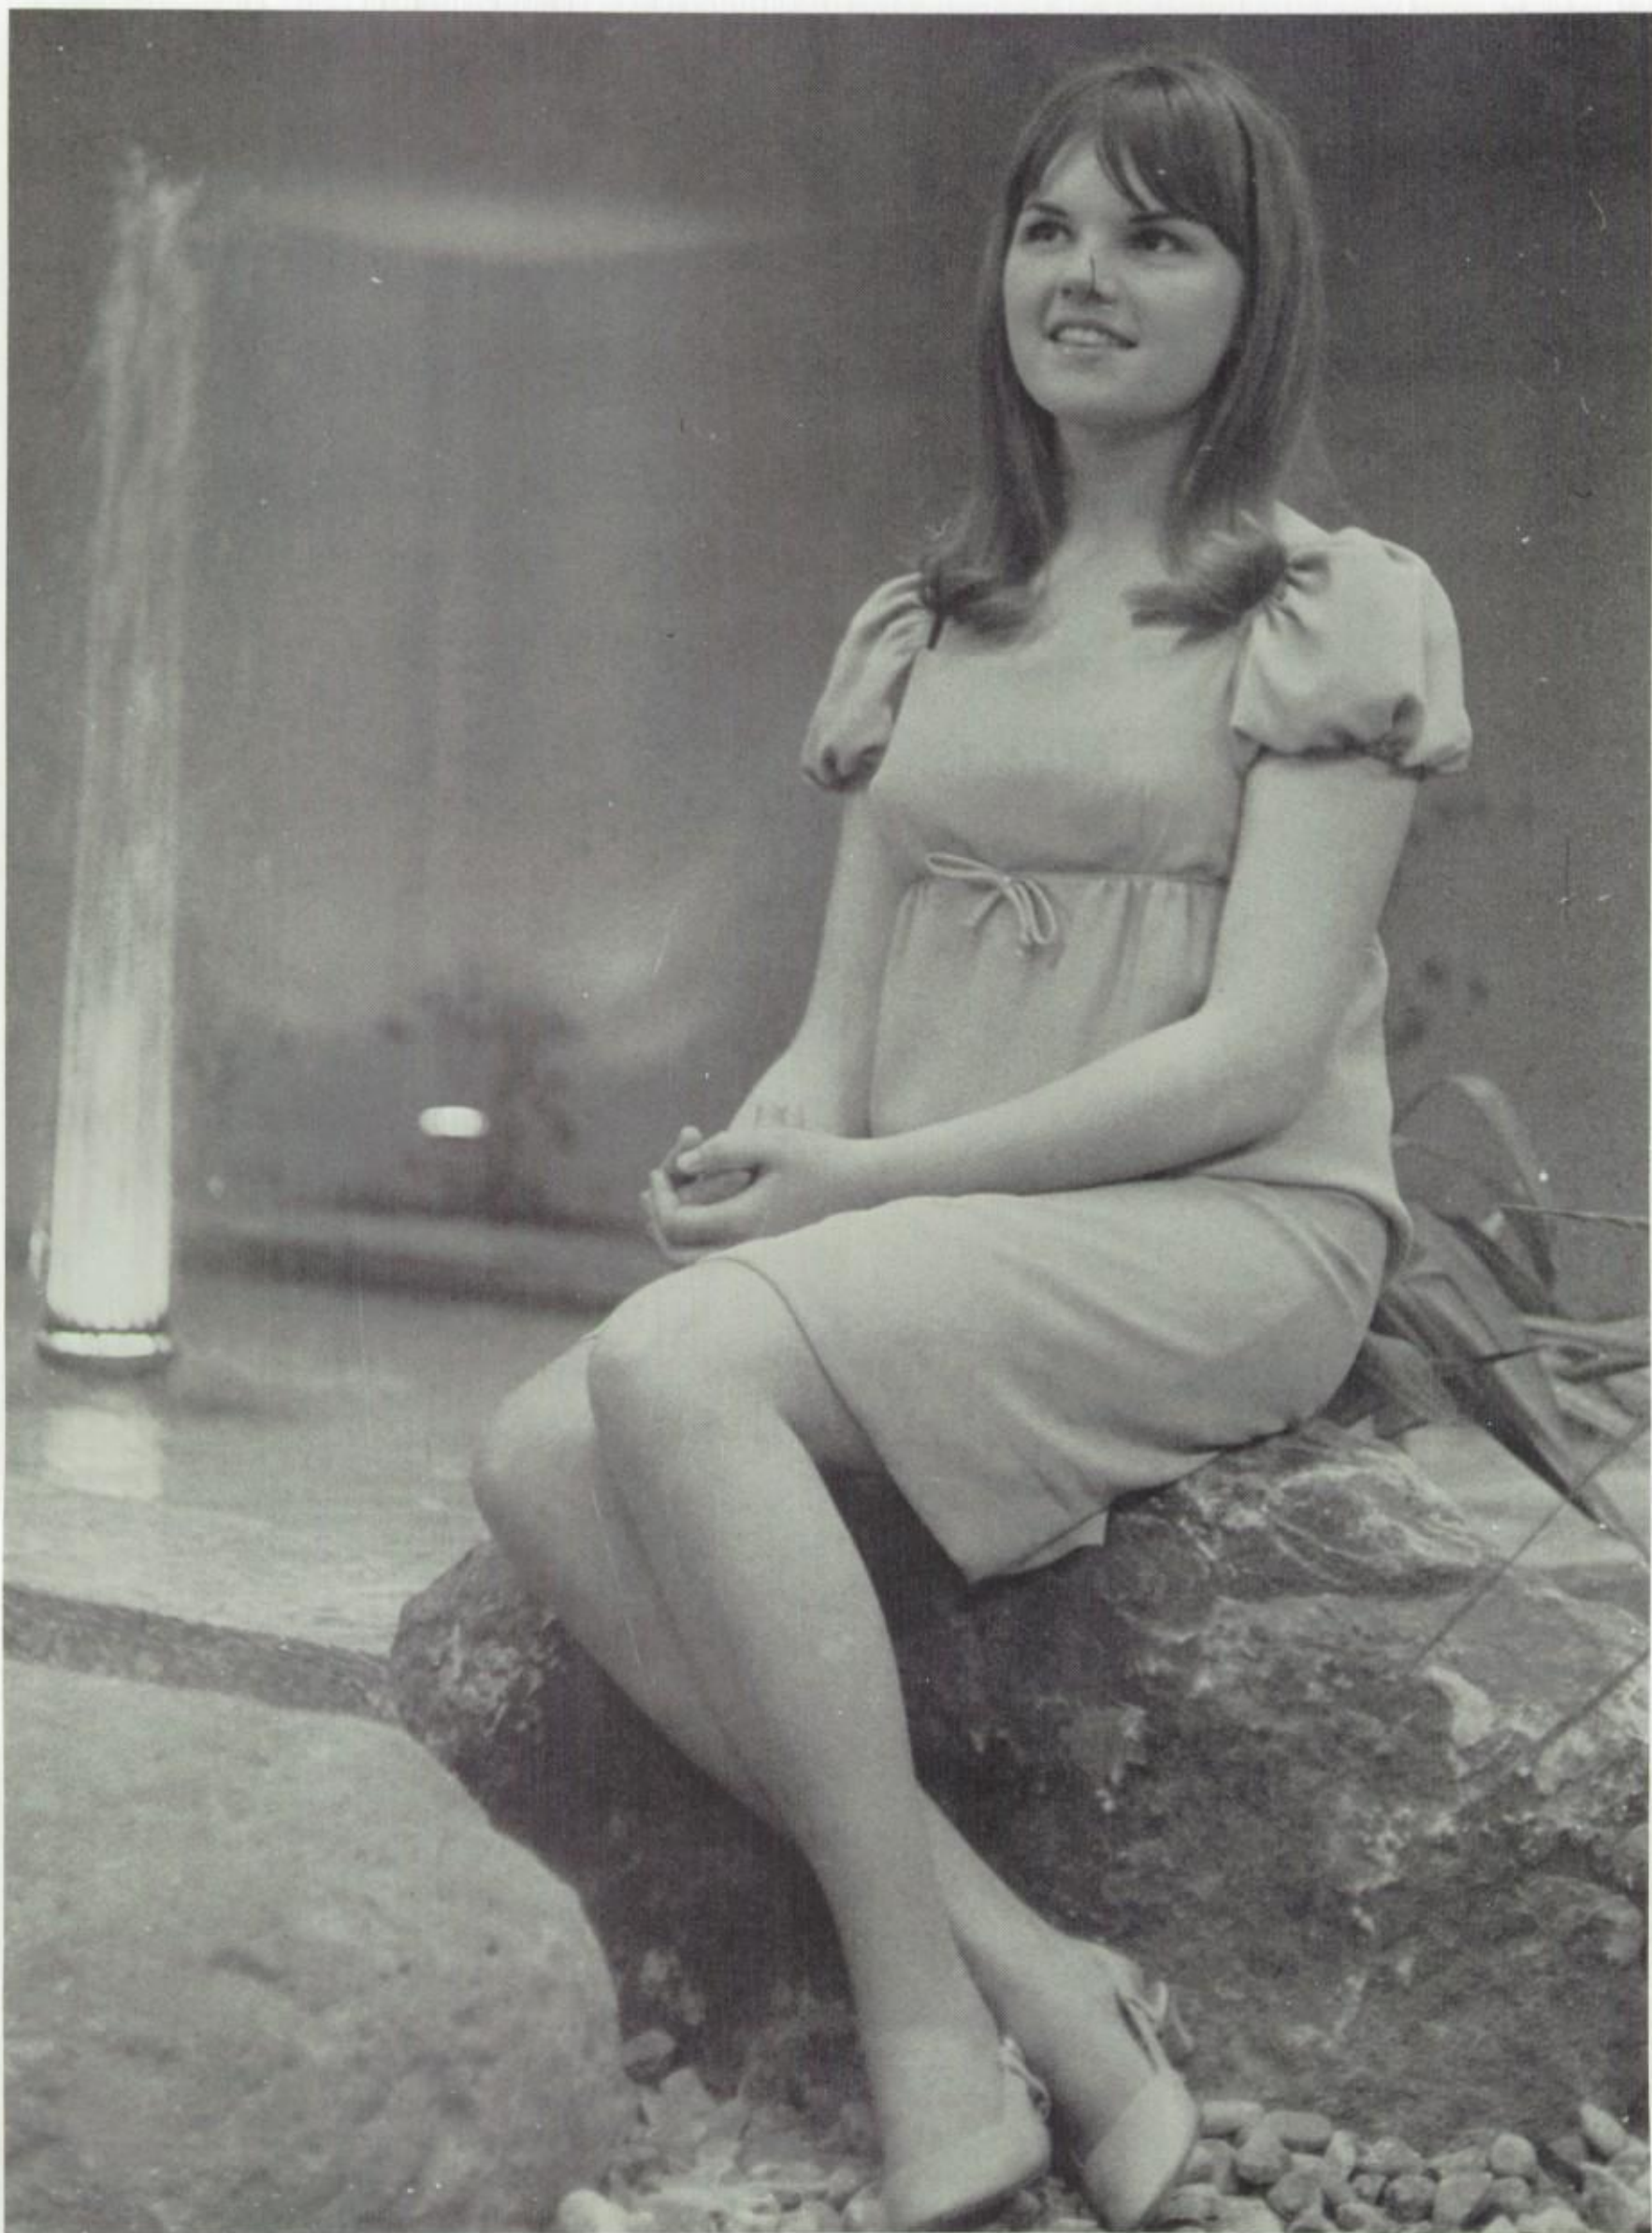

The part of Miss Brooks was played by Cindy Kirkpatrick, and Miss Marlowe by Beth Jones. John Hanlin portrayed Hugo Longacre, and Fred Warner played Mr. Wadsworth. Gwen Lewis played Miss Audubon.

The students were: Diane Murphy, Debbie Ulrich, Tami Szerlip, Vanessa Irion, Melinda Snodgrass, Pete Callahan, Don Piraino, Pat Thomas, Sharon Slade, and Julie Rutherford.

Cupid shot a quiver of his arrows over Highland on Friday, February 24, as the students voted Elena Jensen, the track princess, Sports Sweetheart for 1967.

Elena was announced the winner after the game with Albuquerque High on Saturday, February 25, which left the Hornets in victory with a score of 58-51.

At a morning assembly Friday, February 24, the sweetheart candidates were introduced to the student body by the two masters of ceremonies, Bruce Puma and Joe C. Morris. The girls were escorted through a huge red heart in the gym by two H-Club members, Art Hayman and William Douglas McCurdy. As they were seated they were presented with a symbol of the sport they represented.

The H-Club at a regular meeting screened the girls who had signed up and then voted on them. They then assigned each girl to represent a certain sport. In order for a girl to qualify for Sports Sweetheart she had to have a 'C' average and be a Senior attending Highland.

Earlier in 1966 the decision was made by Student Council to eliminate the Sports Sweetheart from its scheduled activities. However, the H-Club voted to undertake this responsibility to preserve its tradition.

At the Sweetheart dance, held after the victorious game against the Albuquerque Bulldogs, Elena was crowned by Joe Morris. The music was provided by the Court Jesters, a Highland-Originated band. The decorations keeping with the red and white Valentine theme, mixed with the general air of Cupid's arrows.

"110° in the Shade," a two act musical, was presented under the direction of Mr. Arthur Loy and Mr. Bill Robertson at a matinee and three evening performances April 1 through April 15. The musical concerns a plain, small town girl, Lizzie, who is convinced she is beautiful by Starbuck, a suave rainmaker, who comes to her hometown during a drought.

Starbuck's chief competitor, File, a practical down to earth sheriff, offers Lizzie a comfortable and secure life while Starbuck offers her a life of fantasy. Lizzie's father and brother, Jim, are delighted with Starbuck's progress with her while her older brother, Noah, is wary of the threat Starbuck poses to their way of life.

The romance between Jim and flirtatious Snookie provided many of the comical highlights. Tryouts were held in January and rehearsals began at the end of the month. Under the direction of the stage manager, Donna Fossum, the stage crews worked hard to add to the success of the performance.

SPORTS

Highland High School's sports brought out one of many aspects of the school's excellence. The football team took second place in the state, and the basketball team captured first place in district. HHS swimmers were undefeated in regular season competition and tennis sought an eighth consecutive undefeated season.

Highland was proud of its track team, which held the national record for the most consecutive number of state championships.

Highland again displayed its supremacy on the football field by being undefeated in district play for the fourth year in a row. They established a 10-1 record, taking a hard defeat from Artesia in the state game by a margin of 40 to 14. Paced by Dean Stone, All American quarterback, Highland boasted a tremendous season romping over the other District 1AA teams. The Hornets beat Farmington 69 points, by one of the largest margins in Highland's history. The Hornets scored a season total of 508 points for an average of 46 points a game, holding their opponents to 94 points for an average of 8 points a game.

Hornets Tromped by Artesia 40-14

Rick Martin struggles for extra yardage at Artesia.

Although the Hornets were favored to win, the Artesia Bulldogs stunned spectators at Artesia by tromping Highland 40-14 in the state game. The Hornets never really got started until the final half, but by then it was too late.

Highland outweighed Artesia, but the speedy Bulldogs out-manuevered the defensive giants of Highland. It was a disappointing defeat for Highland, but they were beaten by the toughest team they had met all season.

The Bees didn't have as impressive a season as the Varsity, but many exciting games took place. The Bees tied their first game, lost the next two, tied one again, lost one, won another, and lost their last giving them a 2-4-3 season record. Outstanding among the members of the Bee team were Les Ader, Bob Bryant, Bill Carter, Terry Carr, Robert Crawford, Craig King, and John Ortiz.

District Champions

Highland surprised fans throughout the district by becoming District IAA Champions for the second year in a row. At the beginning of the season Highland was rated behind Valley and Sandia by District IAA coaches, but it was soon evident that the Hornets would pose a threat in the District Tournament. Highland lost its opening game to Amarillo, but they were soon back on top beating El Paso Burges, 103-71. In the first game with Sandia the Hornets were defeated, but at the second meeting the Hornets were victorious. Both season games against Valley were close, but the Hornets were defeated. However, in the District IAA Championship game the Hornets were victorious over Valley. They entered the State Tournament but were deated in an upset victory by Roswell Goddard. The Hornets had an 18-6 record for the season.

Spanish, French, Russian, German and Latin language classes give better understanding of their respective languages through many helpful aids. Records, tapes, word games, songs and poems all require class participation, thus allowing students to become more acquainted with unfamiliar pronunciation.

In higher levels, historical reports and reading of literature give insight into peoples and customs of each country.

All these add to more fluent conversation and greater comprehension.

Developing an appreciation of the World and United States is one objective of the history courses.

Southwest, World and U.S. History give students an understanding of past, explanation of present and perspective of future. Through classes in Government, Sociology and Economics students take a closer look at the manner in which other peoples live. Students are given a wide choice in music courses whether they have little or much knowledge of the subject.

One may take chorus, band or orchestra. For those who wish to have a better understanding of music and its techniques, as well as try their hand at composition, music theory is offered. Small groups offer opportunities for students with special talent in music.

A new building, completed this year, will increase the quality of the music program.

Mr. Cleaveland takes one section of the band to work on a piece of music.

The tenor section of the mixed chorus goes over their music while Mr. Loy leads.

Artists Move into New Building This Year

Laurie Dickenson and Karen Gator use cut-outs for their art work.

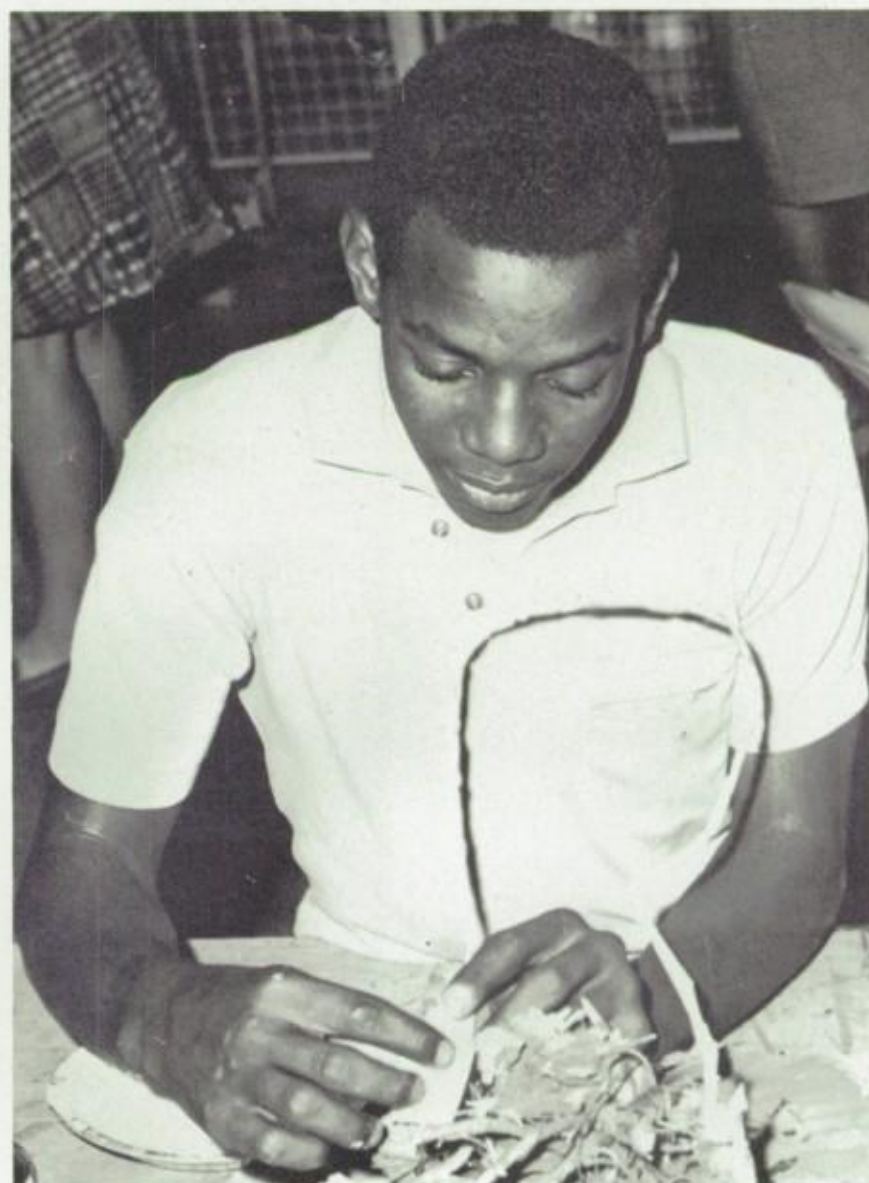

Reggie Moore uses twigs in making his project.

Besides allowing students to express themselves freely through art, they are taught many basics. Technique and method are discussed along with feeling or idea.

General history of art is taught to aid understanding certain ideas and techniques such as perspective by following their development through the ages.

Calisthenics are a daily part of physical education.

Physical Education class philosophies are based on the President's physical fitness program which stresses keeping the body fit as well as the mind. Both boys and girls participate actively in all major sports.

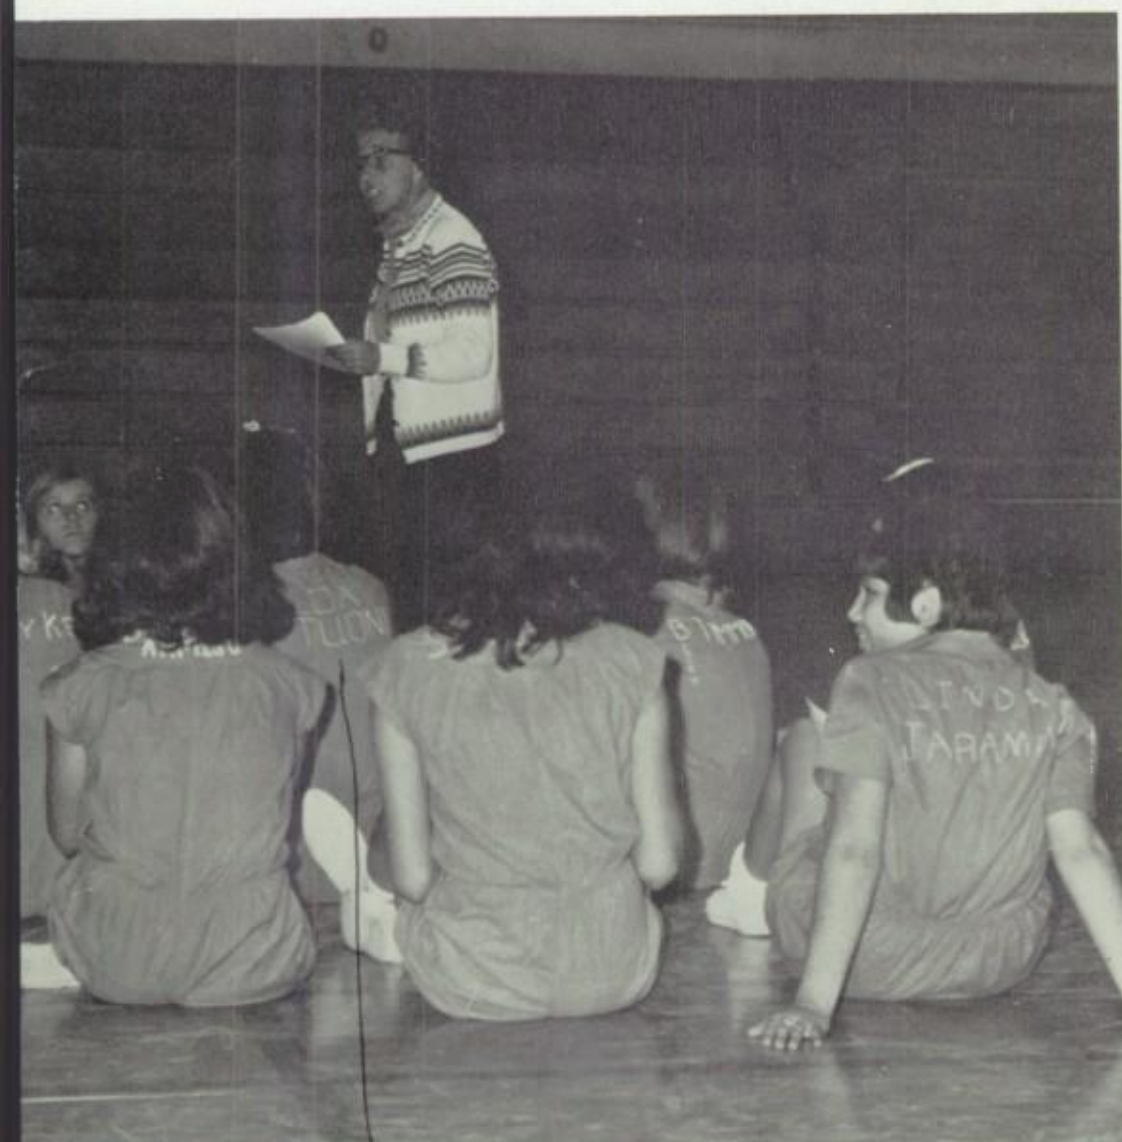

Learning rules of each sport is included as part of both boys and girls PE. Instruction is given concerning basic diseases and first aid. Students also learn the two sides of sports—that of taking an active part and also being good spectators.

Many Services Available Through

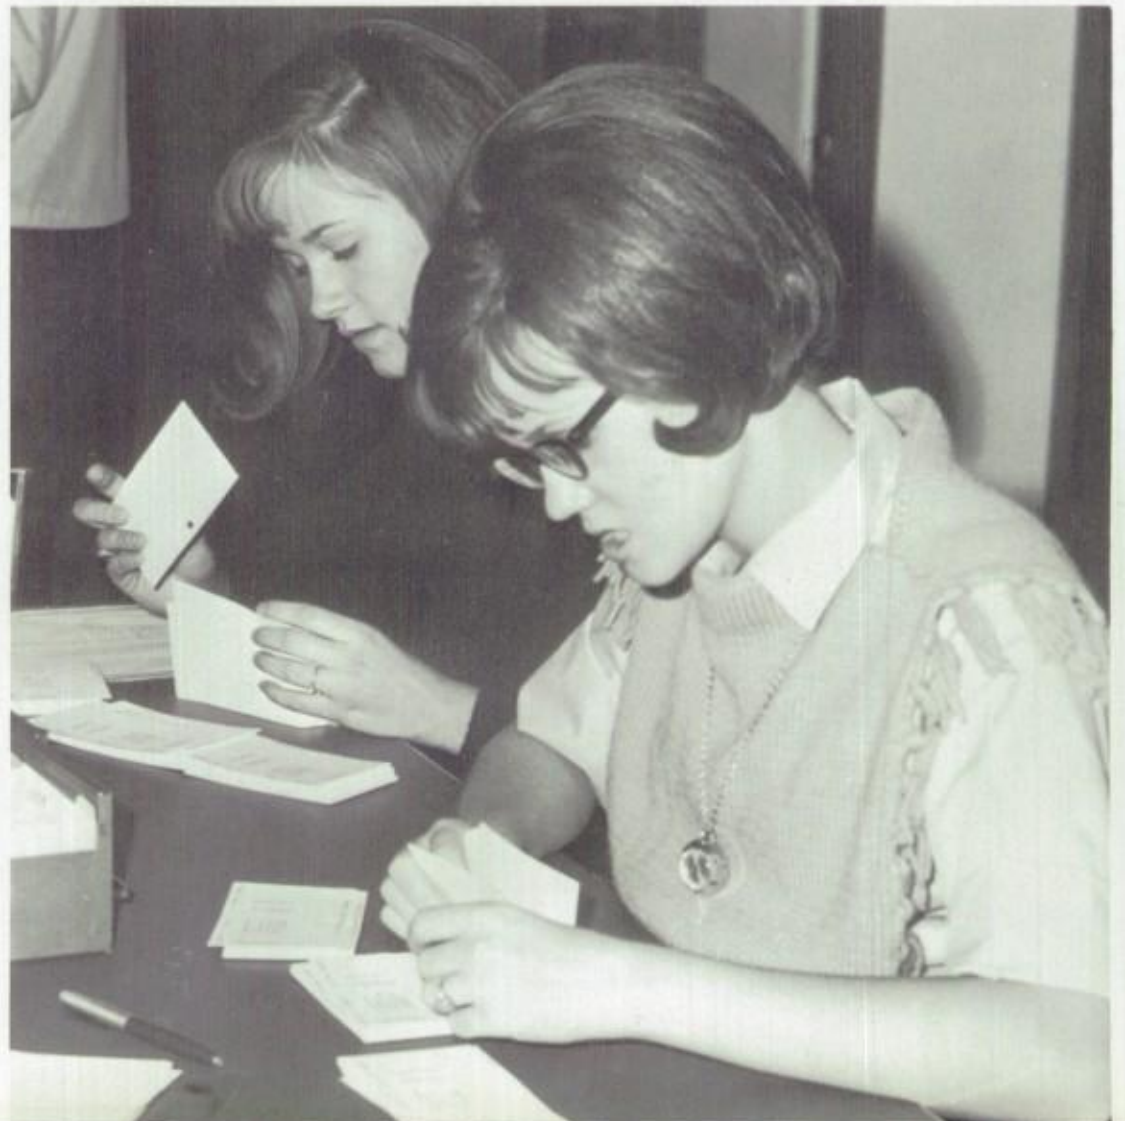

Mrs. Caccamise helps Ricky Hinton find information in college catalogues.

Counseling in schools today has steadily grown in importance with higher standards set for college admission as well as increased requirements of the business world for all high school graduates.

Counselors provide help for all students. They assist students in planning their programs to include courses which meet suggested requirements for college preparation, as well as courses solely for student interest.

Seniors depend on their counselors to help them decide what test to take, interpretation of test scores, filling out college applications, and suggestions as to which college would be best suited for a particular student.

Counselors also aid students not continuing their education after graduation to plan their curriculum during high school to prepare for a job.

Many students give up their study halls to help in the different offices at Highland. In the main office, students help the clerks by answering the telephone and taking messages. Helpers in the attendance office go around to each classroom every period and collect attendance slips; then they sort through the slips and mark absences and tardies. The nurse's office has helpers that take down information on health cards. They also carry books for an injured student.

Library Club

The library facilities are truly the heart of the learning process at Highland. Classroom stimulation and questions find answers and additional material available under the able direction of our Librarians. All books are kept in excellent condition by careful checking and constant repair.

Over 14,000 volumes are available to HHS students.

Linda Eldred uses the card catalogue to find a book.

Students make good use of the magazine rack during study halls.

Cooks and Custodians Serve HHS Well

Charlie Rodriguez and Head Custodian Dan Lucero take time out from a busy day to pose for a picture.

The people responsible for the wonderful meals at Highland are the cooks, Ann Vanderveen, Aroma Montano, Alice Gonzales, Maxine Sanders, and Mae Casey.

Ed
This is my page. I like to think that one day, I may be taking Eusebio's place working under my Alma Mater. Sorry for the smear put my drooping ear lobes got in the way. Hoe I dont have to see you too much any more. I cant stand more than one Espinosa at Highland (P.S. Neither can anybody else).

Custodians Alfonso Calderon, Waldo Sanchez, and Eusebio Garcia help keep our school clean.

See you in line somewhere !!!!!

Classes

The excellence of Highland High School is reflected in its student body. Since 1949, when Highland first opened its doors, it has produced more National Merit Scholarship Finalists than any other school in New Mexico.

Highland graduates are student leaders in colleges and universities across the nation from Stanford to MIT. A school cannot achieve excellence without having a great student body. Highland is fortunate in having this distinction.

*as to my paper I like

Sophomore Class Officers are: Kathy Fitzwater; president, Carole Hillmyer; sgt. at arms, Samette Gilbert; secretary, Kathy Brown; vice president, Tom Turbett; sgt. at arms, and Wyn Lewis; treasurer.

Kathy Fitzwater Heads Sophs

Sophomores made it through their first year as Hornets with great promise for the future. They decorated all halls for Homecoming week with active class participation.

They supported their project with bake sales. All through this year, they showed they had true Hornet Spirit.

Leading the junior class by serving as its officers this year are: Brad Stamm—President; Roxanne Hill—Vice President; Diana King—Secretary; Paula Dorris—Treasurer; Diane Fitzwater—Girls Sgt. at Arms; John Genie—Boys Sgt. at Arms.

Stamm and Hill Lead Juniors

Juniors, the Class of '68, have proven even more industrious and exuberant than last year. There was active participation in all class meetings and projects.

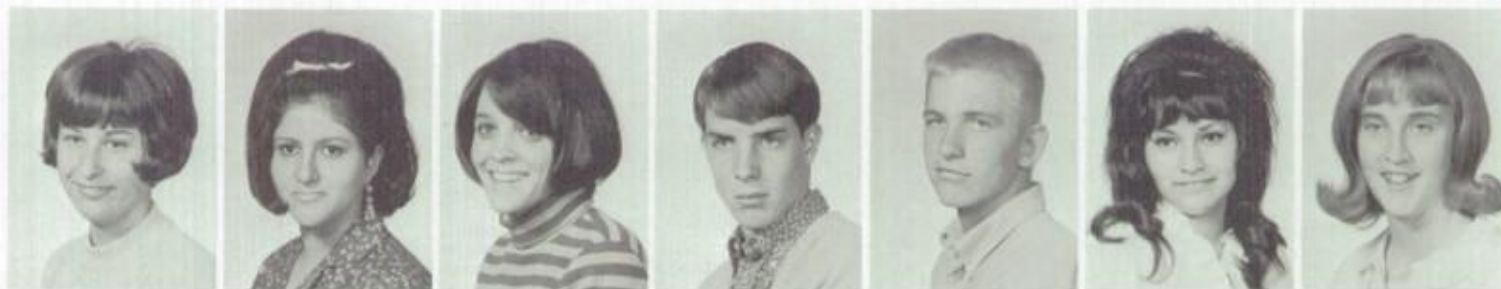

Their projects were carried out through money making projects such as bake sales and dances. Juniors decorated the cafeteria for "Emerald City" for the Homecoming Dance.

One change they introduced was that of making the Christmas Dance semi-formal and having a popular band to bring greater attendance.

Putting on the Junior-Senior Prom was their major project.

Gymnasium P.A. System Is Donated by Class of '67

Fund raising activities occupied much of the senior's time and effort during the first semester. They raised money for the purchase of a new sound system for the gymnasium. Other activities included the sale of sophomore buttons and "ON TO STATE" beanies.

They sponsored a Duck Drag in January. Seniors sponsored a highly successful talent show in the spring.

The Book Is Finished-It Is Yours

Highland High School's 18th yearbook—HIGHLANDER '67—is now in your hands. We hope you will keep it and treasure it among your important possessions. Its value will be enhanced as the years go by.

Your yearbook staff has striven to prepare a book which would present an accurate portrayal of the 1966-67 school year. Over 2000 hours of work and planning have gone into its preparation. This book is as nearly 100% student-made as is possible. In addition to having been planned and assembled by a student staff, every photograph in this book—with 3 exceptions—has been taken, developed and printed by HHS students. The portraits, the color picture and one homecoming shot were professionally done.

We are appreciative of the help which we have received from several people. Mrs. Irene Runnells, the school's bookkeeper until February, has cheerfully handled our finances and helped with the yearbook distribution for several years. Mrs. Helyne Gilmore, Mr. Krumm's Secretary, has taken care of our many purchase orders and bids and has furnished valuable help with yearbook distribution. Mr. Bill Bell has provided us with quality class portraits, the formal homecoming portraits, and the color picture. Mr. Bill Smith, who represents our publisher, Paragon Press, has helped us greatly with technical advice and accommodating deadlines.

We express our thanks to these people.

—THE HIGHLANDER '67 Staff

Dolores,
to the one and only girl I love. Have we had cool times together this year or what? Like Righteous Brothers and the water fight & all our neat discussions about our problems (what is this our - it was always my problems) in homeroom. Stay as sweet, darling & great as you are & I know you'll keep being as popular as you are now. It's been so much fun knowing you this year - I'm so glad you came to Highland. Hope to see lots of you this summer & next year. We'll be good friends forever & ever cause I like you (REAL NICE - I don't mean it that way) Best of Luck always.
Love lots,
Fannie

Dolores,
Ever since I met you - 5 or 6 years ago, we have been friends.
I remember all of the fun times we have had. Remember Robert's birthday. (How could you forget?)
The camps, etc. Need I say more?
Dee, I'm glad you came from Pies this year so we could have all of these good times! Of course I wouldn't have been complete without the notes getting lost. Don't forget Mr. Horne! Come and see me at the Island & try to get a job there again.
Stay as bitchen as you, okay?
See ya all summer

Do try -
Love ya!
Kathy Fitzwater

Dee
Hell gone. I'm so glad we got to know each other this year.
Your friendship is one I'll always treasure. Remember all the fun we've had. P.D. was a real riot. Sharing lockers was ever now fun. That is one thing I'll always remember from our "soph" year. All the fights and mess we had to clean up. Next year hope will be just as much fun if not more. Maybe we can share lockers again. HA! HA!
Best of luck with whatever you do. Mary God Bless you forever.
With Lots of love Pam Plummer (in case you'd forget my last name.)

Dolores,
Geometry was a riot. It was fun giving Church the razz.
Good luck in everything.
Have fun this summer!
True knowin' ya,
Virginia

Dee,
We had a Spanish class, but I still had fun. Have see you soon.

Dolores,
 It's been a lot of fun knowing you this year. I hope we can get together and do something this summer. You have a tremendous personality and it was always a pleasure to go to English. You have that great & rare ability to add a little happiness and fun into life, never change. Hope we have a class together next year. Best of luck always. Love
 Janet Ellis

Dolores,
 It's been a lot

 you the best of luck in

I'm sorry I can't be as brilliantly witty as my two brothers. It seems I must occupy the serious role in our family, being the more intelligent member. Good luck at Highland achieve as much as I have, kid.

How can I begin to tell you thank-you? When I first met you I liked you. Its never changed, and I doubt if it ever will.
You've put up with a lot with me.
all my crukes and my fights. You went many a time "beyond your call of duty" as a friend. It wouldn't be enough to say "your sweet!"

Stay Great!

Dolores,
It's been so great knowin' ya this year.
English would have been sooooo dead without you. I was just remembering how much fun we had at the water fights. The one with one I think. Remember how drenched we all got? I'm really looking forward to seeing ya lots this summer and next year. Be good and have lots of fun.

Best Wishes,
Susan
